Father's Gift

To you, O son of mine, I cannot give
A vast estate of wide and fertile lands;
But I can keep for you, the whilst I live ,
Unstained hands.

I have no blazoned scutcheon that insures
Your path to eminence and worldly fame;
But longer than empty heraldry endures
A blameless name.

I have no treasure chest of gold refined.
No hoarded wealth of clinking glittering pelf;
I give to you my hand, and heart, and mind-
All of myself.

I can exert no mighty influence
To make a place for you in men's affairs;
But lift to God in secret audience
Unceasing prayers.

I cannot, though I would, be always near
To guard your steps with the parental rod;
I trust your soul to Him who holds you dear,
Your father's God.
