<sup>17</sup> Not because I desire a gift: but I desire fruit that may abound to your account.
<sup>18</sup> But I have all, and abound: I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, wellpleasing to God.

Loosen your tongue when angry, and you will make the greatest speech you will ever regret.

---

Money never made a man happy yet, nor will it. There is nothing in its nature to produce happiness. The more a man has, the more he wants. Instead of filling a vacuum, it makes one. If it satisfies one want, it doubles and triples that want another way.

That was a true proverb of the wise man, rely upon it: "Better is little with the fear of the Lord, than great treasure, and trouble therewith."
 - Benjamin Franklin

The Innkeeper's Remorse

My inn...a caravan...that Child!
 This manger...and that mother mild!
 Had I but known, my name had been
 Famous through the earth. This inn! -
 A shrine to which all men would flow;
 Whene'er with pride his room they'd show,
 I'd have been called a friend of His!
 But now, O God, I pray for this -
 Thy mercy grant, and blot my name
 From inn and town, and hide my shame;
 Let not a stone remain as proof
 That this was where He sought a roof,
 The Son of God...and was denied!
 This manger, His; I slept inside!
