Singing In A Wheelchair

While walking along a busy street one day, I heard someone singing. His sweet voice was distinguishable even above the noise of the traffic. When I located him, I noticed that he had no legs and was pushing himself through the crowd in a wheelchair.

Catching up with him, I said, "I want you to know, friend, that to hear singing from a person in your condition gives everyone else a lift."

He answered with a grateful smile, "When I stopped at what I had lost and began concentrating on all I had left, I found much for which I could rejoice and be happy."

Tested Rutherford Wanted Harp

One of the great Scottish preachers of the past, the saintly Samuel Rutherford, went through persecutions beyond the lot of most men. Yet at the end of his life he could write:

Deep waters crossed life's pathway,
 The hedge of thorns was sharp;
 Now these all lie behind me,
 Oh, for a well-tuned harp!
 It is wonderful that a man who has been through sufferings akin to those of Job, should cry out in desire for a heart to praise the Lord.
