What is the Book of Psalms about?

A great many of the Psalms were written by David; other were written by Asaph and the Sons of Korah; one was written by Moses (Psalm 90); and some believe that Solomon wrote two (Psalms 72; 127). Many of the writers are not known.

Moses was the Lawgiver, David and his son Solomon were kings in Jerusalem, and a word may also be said about the lesser-known psalmists: David appointed three choirmasters for praise in the tabernacle (1 Chronicles 15:19); these musicians played the cymbals.

The first was Heman (Psalm 88); the second Asaph (Psalms 50, 73-83); and the third, Ethan (Psalms 89). Psalms were poetry written in Hebrew that were sung to music. The Psalms are the Jewish songbook.

"People"
 - Written By a Little Girl

"People are composed of girls and boys, and men and women. Boys are no good at all until they are grown-up and get married.

Men who don't get married are no good either. Boys are an awful bother. They want everything they see except soap. My mom is a woman and my dad is a man.

A woman is a grown-up girl with children. My dad is such a nice man that I think he must have been a girl when he was a boy."
