Notes about this week...

Brother Jim Evans will be on vacation this week. He has faithfully cleaned and maintained this building since we moved here in 1989. We hope Jim will have a relaxing time in Pennsylvania.

We need help cleaning in and outside the building all of this week in his absence. Especially in the light of the large Youth Rally this Friday and Round Up Sunday next week.

*****

Say a prayer everyday this week for those still in Honduras on a Missions Trip: Pastor Seth Garland, Brian Spiller, John Uptegrove, Justin Dye, Chris Baran, and Rebekah Kohl. They will be returning on Friday.

Those making salads and pies for Round-Up Sunday's dinner should bring them to the kitchen before the 11:00 AM service. We really need you to come through!

Buying Oranges

- Customer: "How much are oranges?"
- Vendor: "Two for a quarter."
- Customer: "How much is just one?"
- Vendor: "Fifteen cents."
- Customer: "Then I'll take the other one."

Excerpts from “Does God Still Guide”

By J. Sidlow Baxter

Part 4 of 5

Finally, we need a quiet mind. This, to some of us, may seem the biggest difficulty of all. Oh, these non-stop minds! This up-start imagination! This memory which persistently digs things up from the subconscious at the wrong times! This seemingly incurable thought-wandering during prayer! How do we acquire the “quiet mind”? Well, this is another place where the experience of others can encourage us. Their testimony is, that the quiet mind develops with prayer habit. Will it seem too kindergarten if I offer a few simple suggestions to those who wonder how they can fill a whole hour with prayer? Or how they can cure mind-wandering?

First: This is a good usual order: (1) express worship and adoration to God; (2) then express thanksgiving for all your many blessings: see Philippians 4:6, (3) intercede for others, whose names you have written on a list, (4) then pray for yourself, your deepest needs and longings. This order saves our prayer time from deadly egocentricity and from intermediate mere “asking.”

Second: preface your praying by briefly meditating on a passage of scripture. For this it is good to be going through the Gospels or some Epistle - a paragraph or so a day.

Third: pray steadily through and Epistle: so many verses a day; turning every exhortation, every promise, every warning, into a prayer for its operation in your own life. This can make your prayer-hour so rich, it will be much too short! You will begrudge every merciless tick of the clock!

Fourth: use your hymn book. Make a list of all the best prayer-hymns, and pray them. Some of them will so surprise you and drag you out in longing prayer that you will keep coming back to re-pray them. Pray till your spiritual experience is up to the level of our best hymns.
