The Exceeding Riches

During the invasion of Scotland after a long siege of one of the castles, the invaders, thinking their foes must be near the point of starvation, sent a message demanding surrender. In reply, a great string of fresh fish was hung over the wall. A subterranean passage to the sea enabled them to obtain a boundless supply. So are "the exceeding riches of His kindness toward us through Christ Jesus." Ephesians 2:7

Stanley Draws On and On

When James Gordon Bennett sent Henry M. Stanley to search for David Livingstone in Africa, he said: "Draw on me for a thousand pounds today to provide your equipment, and when that is exhausted, draw on me for another thousand, and when that is exhausted, draw another; but find Livingstone."

God authorizes us to draw on Him. When one day's supply is exhausted, we are to draw another and then another, and then another.

Fall Bible Institute

A Thot for Parents

"My husband and I grew up on TV, too much of it, and as we started our family while attending the church we go to now, we knew pretty early on (when our first two children were toddlers) that we shouldn't get the kids used to having cable and that the TV would be on only when a video or DVD that mom and dad OK'd would be shown. We didn't want them saying, 'Oh, it's 3 o'clock, time to watch....' We wanted TV time to be in our control as well as what they would and could watch. The result is they aren't sitting in front of the TV watching endless programs and then getting irritated at us for making them FINALLY turn it off. We haven't had negative feedback in our church circles, because we attend a fantastic Baptist Church with a great pastor whose preaching is very black and white, (much like yours) and preaches about the repercussions of watching too much TV, or any TV really since there's very little he can even recommend watching.

Gentlemen

by Dr. George Alquist, Jr

When going to a restaurant, a gentleman always observes the established dress code. For example, he will find out ahead of time if a jacket is required.

A gentleman never drinks coffee through a straw.
