Contenders for our Country

SIGNERS OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

Signer #4: John Adams (1735-1826)
Massachusetts Occupation: Lawyer
Married (Abigail), 5 Children.
One son, John Quincy Adams also became a President.

Quotes: "The general principles on which the fathers achieved independence were . . . The general principles of Christianity. I will avow that I then believed, and now believe, that those general principles of Christianity are as eternal and immutable as the existence and attributes of God."

"It appears to me the eternal Son of God is operating powerfully against the British nation."

John told Abigail, "We have appointed a continental fast. Millions will be upon their knees at once before their great Creator, imploring His forgiveness and blessing; He smiles on American councils and arms."

2015 THEME: CONTEND

"Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." Jude 3

Room at the Cross

Ira Stanphill was preaching in a revival meeting in Kansas City, Missouri. As was his custom, he asked the people to submit some titles while the congregation sang. As the choir presented their favorite selections, he would proceed to write a gospel song, using as the title one of those submitted by the audience.

On this particular Sunday morning, the people submitted about fifty ideas. Stanphill quickly thumbed through the titles and saw the words, "Room at the Cross for you." They struck a responsive chord and before the service was complete, he had given to the world a memorable song to fit that title.

*There's room at the cross for you,
There's room at the cross for you;
Though millions have come,
There's still room for one,
Yes, there's room at the cross for you.*

Some time later, a despairing young man, bent on taking his own life, found himself walking near a church where service was being conducted by Evangelist Willard Cantelon. Al Garr was directing the music for the service. The troubled young man had a gun in his pocket, and was making his way toward a high bridge, not too far from the church. His intention was to shoot himself near the edge of the bridge, letting his body fall into the water.

As he passed the church, he heard Al Garr singing "There's Room at the Cross for You." He was so gripped by its message that he made his way into the church, postponing his mission of horror.

There he found Christ as his Savior and was rescued from spiritual disaster. He later studied for the ministry and became an evangelist.
