Feelings come and feelings go,
and feelings are deceiving,
My warrant is the Word of God,
Naught else is worth believing.

Though all my heart should feel condemned
For want of some sweet token,
There is One greater than my heart
Whose Word cannot be broken.

I'll trust in God's unchanging Word,
till soul and body sever,
For though all things shall pass away, His Word shall stand forever.

Mother's Dying Request of Son

The mother of Christian Schwartz died as he was born. Before her death she exacted this promise from her husband: "When my baby becomes a man and God calls him to be a missionary, promise me that you will not stand in his way!" In those days, foreign missionary enterprise was almost unknown.

Years passed. One day a brilliant young man came from the university and said, "Father, God has called me to be a missionary!" Tears filled the father's eyes as he recalled the promise he gave to his dying wife. "Answer the call, my son, and may God's blessings be continually upon you," said his father.

Christian Schwartz went to India, a pioneer missionary in the generation before William Carey.

"Be a one man welcoming committee at your church!"

Three men walking upon a wall:
Feeling, Faith, and Fact.
Feeling took an awful fall,
and Faith was taken aback.
Faith was close to Feeling, and so
he fell too—
But, Fact remained and pulled up
Faith, and Faith brought up Feeling too.

The proper order of things in life:
1.) Facts- the Unchanging Word of God
2.) Faith- Our belief in the facts.
3.) Feelings- our emotions, attitude.

intoxicant" - Steven Spielberg
