First Thanksgiving Proclamation

In 1789, George Washington issued this Thanksgiving Proclamation:

"Where as it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly implore His protection, aid and favors..."

"Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these states to be the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the Beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be;

"That we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country, and for all the great and various favors which He has been pleased to confer upon us."

Never "Get Used To"

The late President Englehart of the University of New Hampshire was once heard to say, after taking a trip through the lake region and mountain ranges of his state, "I hope I'll never get used to it."

We have grown "used to" beauty, to miracle, to the Gospel itself, so that we fail to stand in awe and feel the glory of the Creator. We must never "get used to" God or any of His works.
