Newton's Piety

Said the great and devout scientist, Sir Isaac Newton: "I can take my telescope and look millions and millions of miles into space, but I can lay it aside and go into my room, shut the door, get down on my knees in earnest prayer, and see more of heaven and get closer to God that I can assisted by all the telescopes and material agencies on earth."

Einstein's Humility

One of his neighbors, the mother of a ten-year-old girl, noticed that the child often visited Einstein's house. The woman wondered at this, and the child explained: "I had trouble with my homework in arithmetic. People said that at No. 112 there lives a very big mathematician, who is also a very good man. I asked him to help me. He was very willing, and explained everything very well. He said I should come whenever I find a problem too difficult."

Alarmed at the child's boldness, the girl's mother went to Einstein to apologize. Einstein said, "You don't have to excuse yourself. I have learned more from the conversations with the child that she has from me."

Lincoln's Serenity

The fate of the nation was hanging precariously in the balances. General Lee and his army had surged forward to the environs of Gettysburg, where the fateful, decisive battle of the Civil War was in the making. The sorrows and burdens of the war-torn nation had exacted its terrible toll on the occupant of the White House, Abraham Lincoln. Yet, on the eve of the crucial Battle of Gettysburg, he was calm and assured. His serenity was reassuring to his generals.

When they inquired, "How can you be so self-possessed in this hour of the nations' mortal peril and darkness?" Lincoln said, "I have spent last night in prayer before the Lord. He has given to me the assurance that our cause will triumph and that the nation will be preserved!"

2008 is the 250th Anniversary of the Baptist Tent Meeting and the 250th Anniversary of Buffalo, NY! We are going to put the two together and have a one-time Evangelistic Tent Meeting on May 19-30.
