Finding the Dinner Today:

Turn left on Rt. 62 and head north through 2 lights to Legion Dr. Turn right and look for the red metal barn near the baseball field. That's it!

If you pass Tim Hortons or Dollar General, you have gone too far.

My Father's Voice in Prayer

In the silence that falls on my spirit
When the clamor of life loudest seems,
Comes a voice that floats in tremulous notes
Far over my sea of dreams.

I remember the family altar, and my father kneeling there;
And the old tones thrill with the memory still
Of my Father's voice in prayer.

I can see the glance of approval
As my part in the reading I took;
I remember the grace of my mother's face,
And the tenderness of her look.

And I know that a gracious memory cast its light
on that face so fair,
As her cheek, flushed faint—O Mother, My saint!
At my Father's voice in prayer.

'Neath the stress of that marvelous pleading
all childish dissensions died;
Each rebellious will sank conquered and still in a passion of love and pride.

Ah, the years have held dear voices and melodies tender and rare,
But tenderest seems the voice of my dreams—
My father's voice in prayer.

Secret Prayer Meeting Starts Revival

“On Tuesday I invited to my house five elderly, consecrated Christian men. I took them to the top of the house and said, ‘I have called you here for special prayer. I am in agony for a great turning to God of the people. We have vast multitudes in attendance, and they are attentive and respectful, but I cannot see that they are saved.

‘Let us kneel down and each one pray and not leave this room until we are all assured that the blessing will come and has come!’ It was a most intense crying unto God. I said, ‘Brethren, let this meeting be secret,’ and they said, ‘It shall be so.’

The next Friday night came the usual prayer meeting. No one knew what had occurred on Tuesday night, but the meeting was unusually thronged. Men accustomed to pray with great composure broke down under emotion. The people were in tears. There were sobs and silences and solemnity of such unusual power that the worshipers looked into each other’s faces as much as to say, ‘What does this mean?’

And when the following Lord’s day came, although we were in a secular place, over four hundred arose for prayer, and a religious awakening took place that made the winter memorable.”

I remembered one town that Mr. Sankey and myself visited. For a week it seemed as if we were beating the air; there was no power in the meetings. At last, one day, I said that perhaps there was someone cultivating the unforgiving spirit.

The chairman of our committee, who was sitting next to me, got up and left the meeting right in view of the audience. The arrow had hit the mark, and gone home to the heart of the chairman of the committee. He had had trouble with someone for about six months. He at once hunted up this man and asked him to forgive him. He came to me with tears in his eyes, and said: “I thank God you ever came here.”

That night the inquiry-room was thronged. The chairman became one of the best workers I have ever known, and he has been active in Christian service ever since.
