Philippians 4:9-10

⁹ Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you.

¹⁰ But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity.

A Thankful Heart

After one of the terrible battles of the Civil War, a dying Confederate soldier asked to see the Chaplain. When the Chaplain arrived, he supposed the young man would ask him to beseech God for his recovery; but it was different.

First, the soldier asked him to cut off a lock of his hair for his mother. Then he asked the Chaplain to kneel down and thank God. "What for?" asked the surprised Chaplain.

"For giving me such a mother. Thank God that I am a Christian. And thank God giving me grace to die. And thank God for the Home He has promised me over there."

What a way to die – thanking God! (See Philippians 1:20-21.)

"If thou art singing a hymn, thou art praising God. Then the hymn comes to an end, and it is time for a meal. If thou keepest thyself from overeating, thou will be praising God.

"Dost thou labour as a farmer? Be sure there are no weeds left in the ground thou art digging. This too will be an opportunity for praising God.

"Thus by the innocency of thy labours thou can't praise God all day long." - St. Augustine (AD354-430)

Giving God Thanks

A godly farmer doing business in "the big city" stopped at a restaurant for lunch. When his meal was brought, he bowed his head, and silently gave thanks.

A group of young men at the next table saw what he did, and one called out, "Hey, farmer, does everybody do that where you come from?"

"Nope," replied the farmer, "the pigs don't."

Giving thanks can become so routine, we forget that this simple act of worship is the heart of our Christian faith: acknowledging our dependence upon God.

"Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." (1 Cor. 10:31).
